NEIGHBORHOOD

Manhattan's Hudson Square neighborhood started as a quiet transformation but now it's being thrust into the spotlight. Not only are media/tech companies Google and Disney moving their headquarters here, but dozens of new residential developments are finally nearing completion.

Today, Hudson Square is buzzing with the energy of more than 40,000 workers in some 1,000 businesses, complemented by thousands of students, visitors and a growing number of residents.

117 BARROW STREET sits on the northern edge of Hudson Square with easy access to delivery contractors, the West Side Highway & the entrance to the Holland Tunnel. This strategic location will help warehouse & distribution tenants revolutionize & streamline logistics to meet their growing consumer demands.
